The Minister Writes...

From Rev Jan Hofmeyr

Dear Friends,

The President of the Methodist Church for this year has chosen as her theme, 'So what's the story?' It's an encouragement to each of us to speak to others about the story of Jesus in our lives. That's one of the reasons we are doing the course 'Talking Jesus' in our home groups at LMC.

The best model for being a witness for Jesus is Jesus Himself. So we need to ask ourselves, 'What kind of a witness was Jesus?' For one thing, Jesus witnessed through His actions. He witnessed by caring for people, by feeding people, by healing people, by listening to people. People experienced the love of God through His actions. And equally, people will experience God's love through our actions. Francis of Assisi said something to this effect, 'Go and be a witness for Jesus, and, if necessary, also use words.'

We can talk all we like about Jesus and our faith in Him, but if that is not backed up in our actions it isn't going to count for much. But having said that, our words are also important. If we go back to Jesus as our example, He spoke and taught and witnessed to the love and grace of God. But His teaching was mainly for those who were already His followers. Once people had been attracted to Him through His deeds, they were then more likely to listen to what He said. As someone has put it, 'People won't care how much we know until they know how much we care.'

But our words remain important. I remember hearing of someone who decided He would witness to Jesus purely through his actions, without saying anything. After a while a work colleague said to him, 'You know, I have seen a big change in your life recently; what has happened? Have you become a vegetarian?' Peter says in his first letter, 'Be ready at all times to answer anyone who asks you to explain the hope that you have in you, but do it with gentleness and respect.' (1 Pet 3:15) We must never see the other person as merely a target for our evangelism. Rather we need to see that person as someone whom God loves and for whom Jesus died.

It's also important to remember that in the end it is only the Holy Spirit who can work a change in a person's heart – we cannot 'convert' anyone. I like the definition of witnessing that says, 'To witness is to share Jesus in the power of the Holy Spirit and to leave the results to God'.

I remember a programme on TV which described a rescue drama. A person on a snow-covered mountain fell into a deep crevasse. She was in very real danger of falling even further to a certain death or otherwise of dying from cold. Her companion couldn't help her, but fortunately he was able to locate another climber who had some basic rescue equipment with him. Through some very clever thinking and at great risk to himself, this stranger was able to pull the woman to safety. As he held and hugged her, I tried to imagine his feeling of joy at knowing that he had just rescued a fellow human being from certain death.

Each of us has that opportunity – to intervene in someone's life and be an agent in God's hand to help rescue them, not physically, but spiritually; to rescue them, not just for this life but for eternal life. That alone should encourage us in this important task. And remember, when we invite someone to come to Jesus, we are not inviting them to some strange and foreign place; we are inviting them home.

With love in Christ,
Jan

"You mean we're supposed to go into all the world?
We better start tweeting it!"

From Rev Kim Plumpton

Dear Friends,

Some of you may well remember this striking 26-foot-tall 'Knife Angel' sculpture built entirely out of 100,000 knives donated by the police to remember the victims fallen to the increasing knife violence in the United Kingdom. Its creator Alfie Radley spent 2 years working on this statue. When asked about the process required to create such a statue, he said, "every knife had to be cleaned of any biological material" and that he had to "blunt every single knife to make sure they're not sharp anymore, and can't create damage."

The statue is a shocking and poignant reminder of the violence people experience in our country every day especially where knife crime is concerned.

Of course in some respects when we look at other parts of the world we live in relative safety. Recent conflicts on the Syrian Turkish border and the continual loss of life in Afghanistan reminds us that conflict is never far away from us.

Whilst I was attending a recent conference a banner held these words, "Humanity is calling for reconciliation, compassion, love, service and sacrifice. Today's problems cannot be solved by the logic of power. Our present problems can only be resolved by the logic of love."

On reflection of the statue and the banner, I am drawn to this idea of needing to "blunt every single knife to make sure they're not sharp anymore, and can't create damage," as well as this 'logic of love.' It is I think an aide memoire. This pursuit of peace which we desire for our world, involves us all, it pivots around our own actions, and our own words, the need to be reshaped, blunted so that we are less able to hurt one another. Made clean, cleansed so there might be a purity of purpose, for we are part of God's loving plan for his creation, that we might be reconciled to God and to one another.

As we remember those who have sacrificed so much in pursuit of peace may we learn the lessons of the past and work towards a future that is more 'blunted' and loving, less volatile, more forgiving and gracious in its dealings with one another. And when opinions differ from our own be more embracing of difference. But also, that when the need arises, to stand up for justice when voices are absent.

Every blessing
Kim

With Thanksgiving in our hearts

We remember 2 dears friends who passed away within weeks of one another, Eleanor Hodge and Kathy Ayton. We are thankful for the joy of having them as part of the congregation in the knowledge that we shall miss them so much.

"How sad I was when I heard of the lovely Kathy Ayton's passing but the joy of her being with her own Saviour and friend made me smile.

You can't think of Kathy without a smile; it's impossible.

I don't know how long I have known Kathy but it feels as though it was always; she was that kind of lady - always pleased to see you and wanting to know how you were.

Kathy had a gift like no other I know with music. You sing it and I will join in she often said when I was asking about a tune for early bird service and would often play a certain piece of music for many of us and smile because she knew it would hold a memory that was dear to our hearts .

Kathy told me once she talked all the time to our Lord requesting this and thanking him for that . A real relationship that was just part of her daily life.

Kathy will live on with us I know. She was so full of fun laughter and faith you can never dull that memory it would be impossible.

Kathy: May God's blessing surround you each day as you trust him and walk in his way.

May his presence within guard and keep you from sin.

go in peace go in joy go in love.

God Bless you Kathy and thank you for everything that you mean to us x"

Anita Latham

Eleanor was "always so beautifully dressed" and part of the joy of knowing her was the fact that she spoke with "great honesty". At 98 I once said to her that I would like a bit of whatever she had, because she remained someone with a steely determination, a desire to evangelise regardless of her immobility or ill-health. "Church life was immensely important to her" and her commitment to CUC was unyielding. Eleanor was the person who persuaded me to preach from the pulpit in-keeping with her Welsh chapel roots. 'My girl' she would say, 'we want to see you and hear you.'

Eleanor and Kathy we shall miss you both but rejoice that you are surrounded by the love of God. Where better place can there be?

We will Remember !

Remembrance Sunday is on 10th November this year and there are downloadable resources on the Churches Together in Britain and Ireland website <https://ctbi.org.uk/remembrance-sunday/>

There's an Order of Service, prayers, intercessions and Powerpoint presentations and free ebooks Beyond Our Tears, We Will Remember and 'Remember Together' Resources for Times of Remembrance

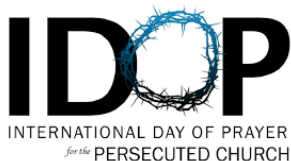

A Century since the first 2 minutes silence !

At 11am on each Remembrance Sunday a two minute silence is observed at war memorials and churches across the UK. The silence is meant as a tribute to those who lost their lives fighting for their country - but what is the significance of that date and time?

On the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month in 1918 the guns of Europe fell silent. After four years of bitter fighting, The Great War was finally over. The Armistice was signed at 5am in a railway carriage in the Forest of Compiègne, France on 11th November and six hours later, at 11am, the war ended.

The first Remembrance Day took place in 1919 throughout Britain and the Commonwealth. A 2 minutes silence was suggested by an Australian journalist and a proclamation was issued by the King. So, since 1919, on the second Sunday of November, a two-minutes silence has been observed at 11am at war memorials, cenotaphs, religious services and shopping centres throughout Britain and the Commonwealth.

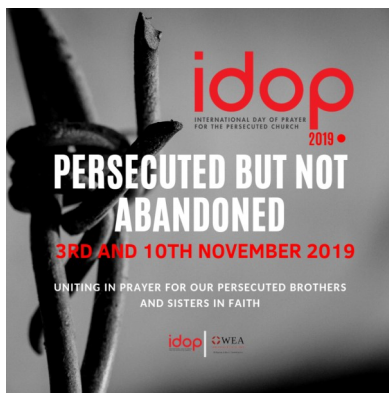

International Day of Prayer for the Persecuted Church (IDOP)

Release International and Christian Solidarity Worldwide have resources for 3rd & 10th November and this year the organisers are calling on churches to pray for persecuted believers, using the message "Persecuted but not Abandoned".

Millions of Christians around the world are persecuted for their faith daily. Routinely facing harassment, discrimination, violence and even death for their faith in Jesus. Over the years, the IDOP has served as a platform to highlight the stories of persecuted Christians and mobilise the global Church to respond to their plight. IDOP has been a source of solidarity and encouragement to persecuted Christians by reminding them that they are part of a larger, global family of believers.

CSW are also asking people to get involved in Red Wednesday on 27th November, when churches and public buildings across the UK and around the world will light up in red as a sign of solidarity with persecuted Christians.

You don't need to have a big building or a technical setup to join in! Marking #RedWednesday can be as simple as wearing red, holding a 'red coffee morning' (a good excuse to eat red velvet cake) or giving out red balloons – anything as long as the theme is red and, of course, standing with the persecuted church!

Alarming Figures from UN Worldwide Study

1 in 3 women and girls experience physical or sexual violence in their lifetime, most frequently by an intimate partner

Only 52% of women married or in a union freely make their own decisions about sexual relations, contraceptive use and health care

Worldwide, almost 750 million women and girls alive today were married before their 18th birthday; while 200 million women and girls have undergone female genital mutilation (FGM)

1 in 2 women killed worldwide were killed by their partners or family in 2012; while only 1 out of 20 men were killed under similar circumstances

71% of all human trafficking victims worldwide are women and girls, and 3 out of 4 of these women and girls are sexually exploited

Violence against women is as serious a cause of death and incapacity among women of reproductive age as cancer, and a greater cause of ill health than traffic accidents and malaria combined.

More from Grace for the Moment

I have to say that some of the lectionary readings from the Bible leave me wanting, perhaps this is because there are no helpful notes to explain what the readings are all about and their significance. Max Lucado in his Daily Bible compilation really hits the spot on many occasions. He says about Philippians Chapter 4 and verse 8:

Change the thoughts, and you change the person. If today's thoughts are tomorrows actions what happens when we fill our minds with the thoughts of God's love? Will standing beneath the downpour of his grace change the way we feel about others ?

Paul says yes, absolutely! It's not enough to keep the bad stuff out, we've got to let the good stuff in. It's not enough to keep no list of wrongs. We have to cultivate a list of blessings. Think about the things that are good and worthy of praise. "Think about the things that are true and honourable and right and pure and beautiful and respected". Thinking conveys the idea of pondering – studying and focussing, allowing what is viewed to have an impact on us. Rather than storing up the sour store up the sweet !

Max Lucado also says on Colossians chapter 4 verse 5:

Those who don't believe in Jesus note what we do. They make decisions about Christ based on watching us. When we are kind they assume Christ is kind, when we are gracious they assume Christ is gracious. But when we are brash, what will people think about our King? When we are dishonest what assumption will an observer make about our Master? No wonder Paul says " be wise in the way you act with people who are not believers making the most of every opportunity". When you talk you should always be kind and pleasant so that you will be able to answer everyone in the way you should. Courteous conduct honours Christ.

It also honours his children. When you surrender a parking place to someone you honour him. When you return a borrowed book you honour the lender. When you make an effort to greet someone in the room, especially the ones others may have overlooked you honour God's children.

Christ Church Family News

We are very sorry that Mike Essex is unwell and was taken to Ep-som Hospital on 10th October with pneumonia and other issues related to diabetes. He is now recuperating back at home. We pray for his speedy return to good health, and also for Dinah and all the family at this difficult time.

We send Gilbert McMillan our very best wishes for his 95th birthday on 18th November.

Congratulations and all good wishes to Keith Poulton who celebrated his 90th birthday on 12th October with a family party.

As always, we pray for these friends, and all those in our church community with health problems or worries of any kind, and for the lonely and the bereaved.

When Darkness Comes

When darkness comes upon our lives
And death's black shadow clouds
our eyes –
Our Lord helps us, when news is grim,
To fear not, and believe in Him.

Yet sometimes, though we try to pray
It seems He tarries on the way,
Though faith grows weak, and vision
dim,
Still fear not, and believe in Him.

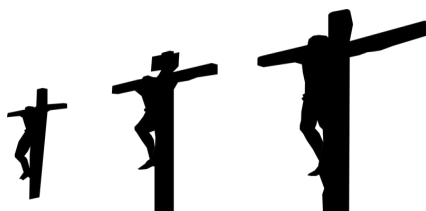

For He, like us, wept tears of woe;
He cried 'My God, where are you now?'
We only tread where He has been –
So fear not, and believe in Him.

In grief, in tears, or in despair

Recall that Jesus is still there.
O strive not to find faith within,
But fear not, and believe in Him.

He's Lord of Lords and King of Kings
He is the Ruler of all things –
He's triumphed over death and sin,
We'll fear not, and believe in Him!

Commitment for Life

Life-giving Faith | Defiant Hope | Generous Love

Very soon now, you will be receiving from your elder the annual request for a donation to this widely-known and worthy cause. It is, as you know, an organisation that serves a wide range of needs, and which the URC at Church House not only sponsors but administers.

Sadly, each year the number of collection envelopes we require is smaller, so that means that fewer of us are being asked to give a donation. Of course there has been no diminution in the number of causes desperately needing our help, so I would ask you to read with care the leaflet that will come with your letter and respond as generously as you are able.

Firework fun is tinged by the hatred between different groups of Christians across the centuries

Guy Fawkes Night

Sharp sounds and bright illuminations
Roaring fires and celebrations
Incandescent constellations
Multichrome disintegrations
Festive fireworks and frivolity
Jumping Jacks and all such jollity!

But, pause between those stellar shows,
Perhaps we might remember those
Through centuries of "Christian" strife
Who've lived their faith, and paid their life.
Remember too, before you're done,
That Jesus prayed we might be one.
